

Kidnaper Telephones Infant's Father At Westbury Home

Pledge Made For Increased Ransom Money

WESTBURY, N. Y., July 6 (AP)—The kidnaper of month-old Peter Weinberger telephoned the child's father today and upped his ransom demand from $2,000 to $5,000.

A man's voice on the phone assured the father, Morris Weinberger, that the child was alive and well.

Weinberger pledged that the money would be turned over to the kidnapper on his terms.

The father reported that the man on the phone said he was calling from a Manhattan pay booth.

"Am ready to meet your demand awaiting your call," Morris Weinberger told the telephone caller, whom he accepted as the kidnaper.

Weinberger was understandably close-mouthed about the call. There are reports he wants police to withdraw and give him a chance to deal with the kidnaper in an effort to spare the life of his youngest son, who is 34 days old today.

Nassau County police have indicated they will not interfere with any private attempt to retrieve the baby. The child has been missing since the kidnaper snatched him from his carriage on the patio of the Weinberger home in mid-afternoon of July 4.

Time

Weinberger said he received the telephone call at 9:40 a.m. If it was the kidnaper, it was his first contact with the family since he left behind in the baby's carriage a ransom note demanding the $2,000. The note read in part:

"I am not asking a lot of money, only what I need, and I am very serious about this."

The call eased a mounting suspicion that little Peter was already dead.

Both Weinberger and his distraught wife, Beatrice, 32, have announced their willingness to meet the kidnaper's ransom demand. The father is a well-to-do wholesale drug executive.

Yesterday, police baited a trap for the kidnaper with two dummy packages of blank paper intended to look like ransom packages. But the kidnaper did not come near them.

Later, Mrs. Weinberger tried to broadcast a radio appeal to the kidnaper.

"I am willing to cooperate in any way," she managed to sob before she broke down in hysteria. Police apparently were at a loss for clues in the second child kidnapping in Nassau County in less than nine months. Three-year-old Stephen Damman was abducted about three miles from here on Long Island. He has never been found.

Westbury is about 25 miles from New York City.

Four Years

The Weinbergers have lived here for four years in a $35,000 brick and clapboard ranch house. They have been married seven years and have another son, Lewis 2½.

Westbury once was the center of the polo-playing, estate-owning Long Island set. Today many of the huge estates are gone, cut up for private housing in one of the nation's fastest growing areas.

The kidnaper apparently was familiar with Mrs. Weinberger's habit of airing the child on the patio. She left him there Wednesday afternoon while she went inside to get a fresh diaper.

When she peeked out he was asleep. So she busied herself for a few moments with some household tasks. When she again went to the patio, the child was gone. In the carriage, she found the ransom note.

Rules For Marriage

WESCONVILLE, Pa., July 6 (AP)—Brief courtships, failure to "master money," and overemphasis on sex are the major causes of breakup in modern marriages, a youth leader told the Eastern Pennsylvania Seventh-Day Adventists annual Bible conference today.

Speaking at a youth panel of the 46th annual conference and camp meeting, Lynn R. Callender, secretary of the church's youth department, advocated a year's courtship before marriage.

Statement

"Chance acquaintances too frequently result in marriages without any consideration of the sacred responsibilities involved," he said. He listed these six rules for a lasting marriage: "expect your love to grow; express your gratitude often; continue courtship; balance your lives with humor, master money and sanctify sex."

The Reading, Pa., Adventist directed the overall youth program at the ten day meeting which ends tomorrow.

He was assisted by two ministers, Rev. J. M. Clemons of Philadelphia, and Rev. W. R. Bornstein of Stroudsburg.

FIVE CENTS

Thieves Ransack Kunkletown Home

KUNKLETOWN—Thieves broke into an eight-room summer home near here this week and made off with merchandise valued at some $500, after plastering the walls with eggs and ransacking the dwelling.

Lehigh State Police said the building is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kelemen, of Newark, N. J.

The break was discovered at 1:30 yesterday afternoon by Kelemen's brother, Peter, who found the front door had been forced open, State Police said. Inside, he found the egg-spattered walls, broken lamps, and several items missing.

Later in the day, the owner and his wife, Margaret, arrived and made an inventory of their loss.

Troopers said the intruders took a quantity of mechanical tools, including an electric drill, a table model radio, four men's suits, two .22 caliber rifles, and a .35 caliber rifle, as well as shotgun and rifle shells, paint, varnish, gasoline, grease, a fifth of liquor, and $20 in cash.

Investigators said the thieves apparently made themselves at home before leaving the burglarized building. Beds had been used, as well as an electric blanket, and the furnace had been turned on. The burglars entered the dwelling sometime since Sunday.

Trooper Peter Sabinsky is conducting the State Police investigation.

Eisenhower Still Hopeful Of Passing School Aid Bill During Session Of Congress

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower hasn't given up hope for school aid legislation at this session of Congress.

This was made known to reporters today by presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty as post-mortem recriminations continued over defeat of such a measure in the House yesterday by a 224-194 vote.

Hagerty said in Gettysburg there will be "continued expressions of the President's hope that Congress will act on the school bill, through conversations with leaders, or word relayed to our legislative representatives."

Hagerty also was asked whether Eisenhower would want the bill "with or without the Powell amendment." Hagerty replied that the President had expressed himself many times and "thinks they should be separate."

Amendment

Before rejecting the school bill the House nipped an anti-segregation amendment by Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.). It would require states to "comply with decisions of the Supreme Court" to be eligible for federal funds.

Republicans and Democrats tried to fix blame on each other for House rejection of a $1,600,000,000 federal aid construction program.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, Democratic leader of the House, and Rep. Halleck of Indiana, assistant GOP House leader, pretty well summed up the clashing arguments.

Responsibility for the bill's defeat "rests with the Republicans," he noted that 119 Democrats voted for passage compared with 75 Republicans while 105 Democrats voted against passage as did 119 Republicans.

Halleck argued that Democrats voted "almost solidly against the President's position and his announced policies" and "by doing this they must accept their legislation."

Government

Loses Congress Contempt Case

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The government today lost a contempt of Congress case through which it sought to narrow the right of a witness to refuse to answer questions on the ground of possible self-incrimination.

U. S. Dist. Judge David A. Pine entered a judgment of acquittal for Miss Diantha Hoag of Buffalo, N. Y. Her indictment grew out of her appearance before the Senate Investigations subcommittee then headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) in August 1954.

Description

McCarthy had described the case as a test to determine whether a witness may enter a blanket denial of wrongdoing and then refuse to answer specific questions.

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—Olmsted Air Force Base, Middletown, Pa., would receive $27,038,000 for construction under the 1957 supplemental appropriation bill approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

National Steel Strike Drifts Toward End Of Initial Week With No Signs Of Peace

PITTSBURGH, July 6 (AP)—The nation-wide steel strike drifted today toward the end of its first week, leaving in its wake a loss of nearly two million tons of steel and unemployment for some 50,000 workers in allied industries.

There was no sign of an early break in the stalemate contract dispute. Both sides expressed willingness to resume bargaining but neither showed any desire to take the initiative in reviving meetings.

It seemed possible that both the striking members of the United Steelworkers and the steel firms might stand pat on their positions until the federal government acts.

A team of federal mediators interviewed union officers and representatives of the industry yesterday in separate meetings.

Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said the information will be studied and he will be in touch with both parties early next week.

Many of the 650,000 striking steelworkers collected their first pay this week. Others looked forward to getting paid next week for the last week they worked. Token picket lines remained at

House Group Cuts Foreign Aid Postal Increase Wins Favorable Vote

Measure Moves To Senate Floor

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The House tonight passed a bill raising postal rates $430,100,100 a year. The bill would raise the cost of mailing a first class letter from three to four cents.

The vote was 217-165.

The measure now goes to the Senate, where it faces an uncertain future in the waning days of this session of Congress.

Support

Opposed by a majority of House Democrats, the bill was supported solidly by Republicans and some Southern Democrats. The vote represented a victory for President Eisenhower and his administration.

Since 1953, the administration has sought rate increases from Congress sufficient to offset an annual Post Office deficit running up to half a billion dollars, and to put the postal service on a balanced operating budget.

Democrats centered their fire on the increase in first class mailing rates.

This increase, representing $295,700,000 of the total annual revenue increase, was branded unfair by Democratic critics and described as a "33 1-3 per cent tax" on ordinary mail users.

British Leaders Hail Changes Inside Russia

LONDON, July 6 (AP)—British Commonwealth leaders tonight hailed "significant changes" inside Russia as serving world peace.

But in a declaration ending their 10-day conference, the nine prime ministers of Britain's global partnership warned peace will be secure only if the causes of tension are removed.

Otherwise, they said the arms race will distract and weaken mankind. They expressed regret that the Big Four have failed to advance unity for Germany, one prime cause of world tension.

The declaration pledged the Commonwealth will devote itself eternally to the quest for world peace and its consolidation.

The prime ministers called for a progressive improvement in relations between Russia and other great powers. A British spokesman later explained this primarily meant the United States.

Declaration

The declaration expressed hope that the United Nations "could be broadened still further so that it might command a wider allegiance throughout the world." This was a reference to Red China and Japan.

Executive Board Schedules Action

HARRISBURG, July 6 (AP)—The state Executive Board is tentatively slated to act next Friday on a year-long survey of state job classifications and salaries.

Dr. Gayle K. Lawrence, director of personnel, said the project will telescope some 7,500 classes of workers into 1,200 job categories. The survey was made by the Public Service Administration of Chicago under Gov. Leader's announced policy of "equal pay for equal work."

One White House correspondent polled a dozen of his colleagues after Hagerty's news conference and said they believed 11-1 that Eisenhower still is running.

Hagerty himself fended off all efforts to draw him out on that point. If the President had informed him of a decision, he said, he wouldn't even tell newsmen that, much less what it was.

He did tell questioners it might be that Eisenhower will hold a news conference himself before ending his period of convalescence here sometime within the next fortnight. Reporters asked formally for a conference with the President and Hagerty said he would take it under consideration.

Probably, he said, Eisenhower will go back to Washington a few days in advance of flying to Panama.

Yesterday's figure raised to 484 who were x-rayed during the first two days of the current chest survey program.

President Talks Secretly About Running

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower discussed his political future with trusted confidants today and the predominant impression around the temporary White House was that he still is running for a second term.

Almost four weeks to the day since a major intestinal operation cast new shadows on his intentions, Eisenhower talked politics this morning with presidential assistant Sherman Adams and press secretary James C. Hagerty.

Any definite decision, if there was one, was a secret locked up tightly among this trio.

But Hagerty came away from his talk with the President in bubbling good humor, wearing a Cheshire cat grin, and eager to volunteer to newsmen that he had been chatting with the boss about "both personal politics and general politics."

Question

"You weren't disappointed in the nature of your discussion?" a reporter inquired.

"No," Hagerty said, "we talked politics."

Did the President say whether he would run again?

"I am not going to say," Hagerty replied.

One White House correspondent polled a dozen of his colleagues after Hagerty's news conference and said they believed 11-1 that Eisenhower still is running.

Hagerty himself fended off all efforts to draw him out on that point. If the President had informed him of a decision, he said, he wouldn't even tell newsmen that, much less what it was.

He did tell questioners it might be that Eisenhower will hold a news conference himself before ending his period of convalescence here sometime within the next fortnight. Reporters asked formally for a conference with the President and Hagerty said he would take it under consideration.

Probably, he said, Eisenhower will go back to Washington a few days in advance of flying to Panama.

Vietnamese Cheer Nixon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, July 6 (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon told cheering Vietnamese today they have the support of the American people in the fight to make their young republic strong and safe from Communist encroachment.

Arriving here from Manila on an official visit, Nixon brought a personal message from President Eisenhower, saying the American people greatly admired Viet Nam's progress toward constitutional government.

"I am proud," said the President's message, "that the government and the people of the United States have been able to contribute to your successful efforts to restore stability and security to your country, and to lay a solid basis for social and economic reconstruction."

House Committee Rejects Request

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today rejected a White House request for $300,000 for the President's Committee on Education Beyond the High School.

And in effect, it said President Eisenhower had better consult Congress first before he appoints any more groups looking to the public treasury for financing.

Action Follows Setting Of Higher Ceiling

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—A Senate-House Conference Committee agreed today to authorize a ceiling of $4,014,575,000 on foreign aid, but the House Appropriations Committee in a separate action voted to hold the appropriation to $3,665,920,000.

These figures, for the fiscal year which began last Sunday, compare with the 2¼ billion dollars Congress appropriated last year, and with about $4,900,000,000 President Eisenhower asked for the new year.

Foreign aid programs always have to go through two processes. First comes authorization, in which a ceiling is set. Then comes the appropriation of the actual money.

In the authorization procedure, the House voted for a ceiling of $3,600,000,000. Eisenhower and other administration leaders protested this was dangerously low, and their efforts were a factor in a Senate voting for a ceiling of $4,562,000,000.

Committee

The Senate-House Conference Committee then was named to reconcile these two ceilings. Sen. George (D-Ga.) announced this afternoon that a compromise authorization had been reached at $4,128,283,370.

Later word from the committee was that the finally agreed-on figure was $4,014,575,000. Of the total, $2,300,000,000 is for military aid.

The conferees agreed on final language under which continuation of assistance to Yugoslavia is left to the discretion of the President. Under the provision, aid is to be shut off within 90 days after passage of the bill unless he finds it is in the interest of United States security to continue it and that Yugoslavia is not participating in any plot with Russia for worldwide Communist domination.

When the committee makes its final report, the legislation will go back to the Senate and House for final action.

In the appropriations side of the process, the bill voted today by the House Appropriations Committee is due to be acted on by the House Monday.

The Appropriations Committee figured Eisenhower's money request total at $5,071,875,000, made up of $4,859,975,000 in new money and $211,900,000 in reappropriation of carried over funds.

It figured its reduction from the total asked at 28 per cent, or $1,405,955,000. It said the cut would not handicap aid programs, since it said there is still $6,870,000,000 in previously appropriated money which has not been spent.

The committee also noted that its new bill is 900 million dollars higher than last year's appropriation.

The administration says it needs bigger appropriations to maintain aid shipments at a steady rate, and to keep the pipeline flowing to friendly nations which need help in the face of Russian designs against the non-Communist world.

Service Plans Built Around 'Sacrament'

HUMANITY'S need for effective prayer will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday when the Lesson-Sermon is entitled "Sacrament."

Importance

To keep the commandments of our Master and follow his example is our proper debt to him and the only worthy evidence of our gratitude for all that he has done."

The public is cordially invited to attend services at 11 a.m. at First Church of Christ, Scientist, corner of Monroe and 8th St., Stroudsburg.

I AM THE CHURCH

They pause in the road of life and gaze at ME. And their feelings are a mixture of longing and hesitation. What shall I say to their longing . . . to their hesitation?

I am the Church. I come not from man but from God. Man raised my steeple to the sky, a prayer of steel. But God opened my doors to the reverent. He lifted the Cross of His Son to beckon men. He engraved His message on the hearts of my people.

I am the Church. They long for me because I teach truth and awaken faith . . . because hope and courage and strength and happiness are promises I make to those who heed me.

I am the Church. They hesitate as they approach me. For they say, "How can we be sure your Truth is true—your Faith believable—your Promises certain?"

I am the Church. That is why men can be sure! I come not from man but from God. Men may toy with the truth, but not God. Men may break faith, but not God. Men may forget their promises, but not God.

I am the Church. I belong to you . . . to your family . . . to your nation and your world. Do you belong to me?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Roy M. Houser's Death Removes Active Worker In Civic Affairs

In the death of Roy M. Houser, Monroe County has lost a citizen whose civic interests paralleled those of his chosen profession, banking, throughout much of his life. As executive vice president of the First Stroudsburg National Bank he was closely identified with the financial affairs of the community in many ways. He started his banking career as a bookkeeper, later was promoted to cashier and subsequently to executive vice president. He also served as chairman of Group Three, Pennsylvania Bankers Association.

Mr. Houser's life of public service was devoted chiefly to the Monroe County YMCA. As one of a group of community leaders who organized the association in 1914, he was elected its first treasurer and continued to serve in that capacity until his death.

A conscientious worker, he played a leading role in the campaign to raise funds for the new building and had charge of the building fund account.

A member of the Stroudsburg School Board for 25 years, Mr. Houser had been elected to several terms as president and as treasurer. He was an active member of the board during the construction of the present high school building.

Another county-wide organization in which he served actively was the Chamber of Commerce. An officer of that group for many years, he was president for two terms in 1946 and 1947 during the highly successful Pathfinder Week celebration. He also served at a time when the Chamber broadened its scope to include the business, industrial and resort interests of the entire Pocono Mountains.

A life-long Methodist, he had been president of the board of trustees of his church in Stroudsburg. He had also been an active member of several fraternal organizations.

A dependable worker for any cause in which he believed, he possessed a reserved nature which was highly respected by his associates, and an obsession to adhere strictly to the rules in carrying out the details of any endeavor.

Mr. Houser's passing is a great loss to his family and friends, but most of all to the community he served so well.

Boy Scouts Bring Training Into Play When Caught On Mountain At Darkness

The training Boy Scouts receive stood a group of them and their leader in good stead the other night when they found themselves faced with the alternative of spending a rainy night near the top of Mount Tamani or making a risky descent.

With darkness approaching, their leader, Assistant Scoutmaster William Townsend, sent the senior patrol leader, Jack Bryfogle, 13, down the rocky mountainside to determine whether it would be safe for the entire patrol to descend.

Bryfogle, eldest of the scouts, went down to the highway and returned with word that it would be best to remain on the mountain. This the boys and their leader decided to do and proceeded to prepare an overnight campsite.

Their plight attracted a motorist, however, and word was flashed to Camp Weygadt officials that the boys were stranded atop the rocky cliff. The alarm soon spread to rescue organizations. The camp dispatched a leader and another young man who led the boys to a cabin farther up the mountain. The boys themselves, far from being panicky, seemed quite disturbed because they had to move their beds. They said later they really didn't know what the fuss was all about.

Their Boy Scout training had taught them to be resourceful at all times. They were being just that by "staying put" overnight. Unmindful or unconcerned by the commotion their plight had caused, the patrol spent the night on the mountain and then made their way down the hillside after daybreak.

Camp Weygadt officials said they ruled out an attempt to remove the boys during the night. It was unnecessary, they said, because the patrol was not lost and was safe. Only under exceptional circumstances should searches be carried on at night, the camp said in quoting an official scout publication.

The story has a happy ending because the boys and their leader "kept their heads." All of which is a tribute to the training the scouts receive in camp and during other troop activities.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Russia's Khrushchev Pursuing Policy Based On Moral Corruption Of Western Spirit

A sharp distinction is suddenly being made between what is called "national Communism" and what is now being called "satellite Communism." It is very much like the distinction that was made during the Roosevelt Administration between the good dictator and the bad dictator. Hitler and bad dictators; Stalin was a good dictator. Years have passed and now even the Communists deny that Stalin was a good dictator.

The phrase, satellite Communism, refers to the Stalinist era during which Soviet Russia was expanding imperially. Following an historic concept of Treitschke, the German historian of militant nationalism, Stalin encircled Soviet Russia with a series of satellites, each one of which was required to re-model itself after the Stalinist concept of Marxism-Leninism. What it all came to was that the satellites became colonial areas dominated by the Kremlin.

Those in the United States who are always apologists for Soviet concepts, now accept the Khrushchev interpretation of the Stalinist dictatorship and accept Tito's national Communism as a new system which will free the satellites and make relations between Soviet Russia and the United States easier.

As an interesting sideline, it might be mentioned that the author of national Communism was Earl Browder who proposed in the Comintern that conditions in the United States were exceptional and that therefore the Communist Party in the United States had to act differently from parties in Europe. Browder was bitterly opposed by Tito who in due course accepted Browder's program. As part of this program of exceptionalism, Browder changed the name of the Communist Party of the United States to the Communist Political Association. For this act, he was eventually expelled from the party.

What is usually forgotten is that Marxism requires the conquest of the Earth to their cause, that the Marxists believe that the next historic era for mankind will be the Socialist era, to be followed by the Communist era during which government will wither away as a futile institution, just as religion and the family, both unnecessary in a period during which there is no private property, will also disappear.

In the complicated times of the moment, it seems to be necessary for Soviet Russia to retreat from certain activities, particularly in Europe, but a retreat does not mean a deviation from the set purpose. As a matter of fact, while Khrushchev invites the British and Americans to look at his air force, an act of ostensible friendliness, the Soviet Union State is expanding into the Middle East, and while Khrushchev expresses hope for an invitation to Washington, the entire Arab world is being excited to an anti-Americanism that could be damaging in time.

What it all comes to is this: Khrushchev is pursuing a policy based on the moral corruption of the Western spirit, his idea being that the Christian West will take anyone to its bosom who speaks fine words concerning peace; that if Soviet expansion is adequately disguised, the West, so anxious not only for peace but also to get the issue of Communism out of its domestic politics, will accept the disguise as reality. This can give the Soviet Union State a tremendous advantage, particularly if the new phases of its expansionism are paced slowly. However, the converse of this plan is already appearing in the revolt of the local Communist Parties against Kremlin domination.

The Middle Eastern situation is disguised as intensified Arab nationalism. As to the Far East, nothing more is asked than that Red China be admitted into the United Nations, as one of two Chinases. As for Tito, who has now returned to the Kremlin as one of the boys, the United States can be counted on to continue to provide subsidies.

Senator Eastland wrote to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, inquiring:

"I write this letter to ask you if you will undertake to determine who are the 'responsible United States officials' who have informed 'Newsweek' that 'the U.S. probably can't exclude Red China from the United Nations beyond the next session of the General Assembly.' I ask you also to determine who are the U.S. officials who 'believe the U.S. may have to adopt a more flexible attitude toward neutrals and even such halfway allies of the Reds as Yugoslavia.'"

This is an interesting inquiry because it touches off the question as to whether our government has really adjusted to the new developments.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

WAR IS WAR

With a big "channel crossing" war raging between two top television systems and with Ed Sullivan commanding one front and Steve Allen as field marshal of the other, world peace is getting a setback. The U.N. Security Council may have to step in. Fun on the Sunday night screen is becoming more and more competitive. No network gives or takes a quarter and the cries are "Don't give up the quip!" "The station expects every emcee to do his duty." "Don't shoot until you see the whites of their wisecracks!" and "Damn the previous week's Trendex ratings; full speed ahead!"

Ed Sullivan who doesn't play, sing, dance or do somersaults finds himself in combat with Mr. Allen who does them all and could probably do the Indian Rope Trick in a pinch while playing a musical saw. But Sullivan is a smart showman, and the whole thing can lead to a conference at "the summit" in the interest of brotherly love, world concord and quiet Sabbath evenings at home. Possible commiques from the battlefronts:

Camp Sullivan. — There was heavy fighting along all fronts Sunday night. We threw in Lolobrigida, two dozen Hollywood commandos, the Brooklyn Dodgers, Ben Hogan, Lassie, Noel Coward and the entire membership of the Lambs Club. Heavy opposition was encountered. Some of our acrobats are missing. The action continues.

With a Jewish Lord Mayor of Dublin, do you suppose you can get bagels at Lake Killarney? . . . And has breadth of understanding reached such a wonderful point that it is safe to sing of "Rebecca Mavournen." . . .

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE Fund's American Dream Needs Reinterpretation

"The Fund for the Republic is a kind of fund for the American Dream." This excellent sentence (what does it mean?) in the General Policies paragraph is one of many similar ones brightening the Fund's handbook of May, 1955.

With great will and hand-turned phrases, the gentlemen at the Fund's helm set out to "advance understanding of civil liberties." I have a suggestion for them—sending bright kids to college.

Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the Fund for the Republic, was once keenly interested in education as president of the University of Chicago. And I believe he still is, although he states the Fund "is not interested in scholarship as such. Nor is it concerned with general education."

"Civil liberties," as I get it, is the sore thumb for which they seek medication.

So, The good professor also says his outfit "is not engaged in the support of long-term research."

Yet on another page we are told that the investigation now being made of Communists in America is expected to take two or three years. A minor discrepancy, to be sure, but at least as great a contradiction as disavowing any interest in general education and scholarship, as such.

The American Dream in its positive aspects must include education. Otherwise it is a nightmare of pink elephants. (And it is noticeable that Doctor Hutchins' selections for the conduct of research are without exception men of the highest educational background.) The American Dream in its positive aspects must get off Cloud Nine and enter the tangible world of American Reality. And if there is a more pressing reality than the wasted talents of half our brightest high school graduates I wish you would name it.

If there is a more prominent "civil liberty" or "right" which is being compromised or lost through neglect or confusion than the waste of bright minds, I would welcome its identification.

As for alarm over the Constitutional rights of the creatures who have suffered from the "continuous propaganda and social pressure which tends to suppress conscientious non-conformity."—Rot! If some unfortunate considers sympathy toward Communism nothing more than a political difference of opinion, I am sorry. But I am of no mind to set up instruments for their defense beyond those already available.

There is a much more important "right" belonging to us citizens. That is the right to see our most important resource—youth—used to the fullest. It comes as a shock to know that so small a percent of the ablest youngsters go beyond high school. And it seems to me a problem to which the Fund for the Republic might address itself.

Whoever "is not interested in general education" just isn't interested in much, to my way of thinking. Do you follow me, Professor?

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

A young mother-to-be, notes Herb Stein, visited her gynecologist for a routine check-up and was told that she would be blessed with twins. The doctor decided the husband should know immediately, too, so he had the nurse summon him out of the front seat of his car below.

"What's the big idea of dragging me here?" he protested. "I'm liable to get a ticket for being doubleparked outside."

"Well, son," said the doctor gently, "Your wife's in the same situation inside."

"What a wonderful age we live in!" sighed a mother mosquito to her two daughters as they essayed a trial flight over the beach at Asbury Park. "When I was young, the only places you could sting those bathing beauties were the hands and face!"

Queen Elizabeth, Churchill May Visit U.S. Next Year

Washington — Queen Elizabeth and Winston Churchill may come to the United States next year to help celebrate the 350th anniversary of the birth of this nation. And the president of France may also attend in recognition of the major role played in freeing the English colonies in America from British rule.

The occasion will be the Jamestown Festival of 1957, which will commemorate the first successful permanent English colony in the new world. When English colonists landed at Jamestown, Va., in 1607, it marked the beginning of what was to become the United States of America.

The festival, which will continue from April through November, will also feature an International Naval Review in June in Hampton Roads in which the warships of 30 nations will participate. Among them may be a Russian vessel, possibly the famous cruiser Ordzhonikidze, which carried Bulganin and Khrushchev to England.

President Eisenhower is expected to be present for the Jamestown Settlement celebration May 13 which will commemorate the founding of the Virginia Commonwealth and the birth of this nation at Jamestown in 1607.

The President will also formally dedicate the 23-mile Colonial Parkway which will connect historic Williamsburg with Jamestown and the Yorktown battlefield, three of the nation's most historic shrines.

Capital for 92 years — Jamestown served as capital of the colony of Virginia for 92 years, from 1607 to 1699. Williamsburg, 10 miles from Jamestown, served as capital from 1699 to 1779.

Today there is no town of Jamestown; only the old brick church, ruins, foundations and monuments remain of the site used by the early settlers. The fort in which the settlers lived in 1607 is being reconstructed and full-scale replicas of the three ships which brought them to America are being built and will be moored in the James river.

The Glasshouse of 1608, the first highly skilled industry in English America, is also being reproduced and blowers will fashion glass souvenirs for visitors. The British government plans an elaborate exhibition at the festival and nearby will also be an Indian exhibit. Powhatan's lodge.

Millions are expected to attend the festival during the eight-month gala celebration.

President's Invitation — Next Sept. 29, Gov. Thomas Stanley of Virginia will sail from Hampton Roads aboard the liner Noordam for England with a party of state and national officials.

Stanley will bear with him an invitation from President Eisenhower to Queen Elizabeth to participate in the festival. At the same time invitations will be extended to Churchill and to Virginia-born Lady Nancy Astor and to the president of France.

Mr. Eisenhower has endorsed the proposal and plans to attend the festival also. Negotiations are now underway with British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins. The queen would attend the Royal Dominion celebration on June 16. This will commemorate the dissolution of the London company in 1624 and the establishment of Virginia as a Royal Dominion.

Churchill and Lady Astor are being invited to attend the General Assembly celebration July 30. On that date the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Virginia will convene in the old church at Jamestown, built in 1639, to commemorate its first session in 1619. Next to the British parliament, the Virginia general assembly is the oldest legislative body in the English-speaking world.

The president of France is being invited to attend Yorktown Day on Oct. 19. This will commemorate the winning of independence in the last major battle of the war in which Lord Cornwallis and his British surrendered to George Washington's American and French forces.

Woman President — The advocates of a "Woman in the White House" recently were given a boost by a group of college students. Although it appears unlikely that either political party will choose a female presidential candidate in the immediate future, students at Hamline university in St. Paul took the unprecedented step in a mock convention.

The college youngsters chose as their nominee Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R., Maine). In a telegram to the only woman senator, the students said: "We sincerely feel that your outstanding record qualifies you for the presidency of the United States."

At the same time, Mrs. Smith was chosen by the Main GOP convention as its "favorite daughter" for the 1956 Republican vice presidential nomination.

Oh that I were as in the days of my youth!—Job 30:12.

We would like though to have the wisdom of old age—no one longs to be as foolish and inexperienced as he was as a calow youth. We would make the same mistakes, no doubt! It is fortunate that we can't live life over again.

IAM Representatives May Submit Strike Counter Proposal

Ronson Walkout In Fifth Week

REPRESENTATIVES of the International Association of Machinists are expected to submit a new proposal to officials of the Ronson Corp. in an effort to settle the five-week-old strike of some 750 workers at the company's three East Stroudsburg plants.

Charles E. Beyer, IAM grand lodge representative, said last night the union will make the counter proposal to promote further negotiations, since members of Local 1724 unanimously rejected a company offer a week ago.

"The counter proposal is being made to indicate the union's good faith and stimulate talks for an equitable settlement which can be recommended for acceptance to the membership in good conscience," Beyer said.

The union's policy committee—composed of the negotiating committee, local lodge officers and shop stewards—will meet at 7:30 Monday night at the CLU Club to review elements of the counter proposal, he said.

Meanwhile, Federal Mediator Walter Moser of Allentown, last night disclosed that the "situation remains unchanged." Moser said further he may be able to arrange another negotiation session by the middle of next week, if he can work one into his schedule.

Although the company offer provided for 23-cents in wages and benefits over three years, Lodge 1724 turned it down for two basic reasons: Members felt it did not answer the union's demands for more adequate job protection and it called for a three-year contract without wage reopeners.

Top Level
A top level conference of company and union representatives was held in New York on Thursday. However, no head way was reportedly made.

That meeting was held in the offices of Fred Conoley, general vice-president of the IAM. The company was represented by Oscar Berman, Ronson's counsel; and Maurice Sternman, industrial relations director. Present for the union were Beyer and another grand lodge representative, James Annable, along with Reginald Anderson, representing the general vice-president, and the local negotiating committee, composed of Paul Albertson, Joseph Andrew, John Sullivan, Raymond Catudal, William Bolcar and Joseph Rosso.

"No local management representatives were present," said Beyer, "which was one of the reasons why nothing constructive nor conclusive was accomplished at this meeting."

Meanwhile, weekly strike benefits will be paid to Ronson workers again today at the CLU Club.

New Date For Fireworks
A continuation of the rainy weather forced a second postponement of the fireworks display in East Stroudsburg last night, an Acme Hose Co. spokesman reported.

The show was to have been given Fourth of July night but was postponed because of rain. Yesterday's rain, on top of the heavy rainfall of Wednesday and Thursday, made it necessary to order a second postponement, firemen said.

Weather permitting, the display will take place Monday at 9:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium, East Stroudsburg. Tickets may be procured from fire company members and at the stadium.

Pen Argyl Adopts Budget
PEN ARGYL—On Tuesday night the Pen Argyl Board of Education adopted a 1956-57 budget totaling $187,000 and setting a school tax rate of 28 mills. The tax rate last year was 25 mills.

The board maintained that this rate increase was necessary because of the state mandated increase in teacher salaries and the necessary repairs to the heating system of the McKinley Building.

This increase in teacher salaries was recently passed in the legislature in Harrisburg and signed by Governor George Leader. The salary schedule proposed by the Teacher's Association was turned down at a Joint Board meeting on June 11.

Bids
Three bids were submitted to the board for the repairs to the plumbing and heating system for the McKinley Building which also supplies heat to the Garfield Building. The bid from Bieler & Sons, Pen Argyl for $8,525 was accepted by the board.

The new furnace will cost $6,975 and the plumbing will cost $1,550. In further business a bid of $1,865 from the Nazareth General Paving Co., was accepted for repaving the playground for the Garfield Building.

Police Arrest Palmerton Man
LEHIGHTON—Wayne Andras, 22, of Palmerton RD, was arrested yesterday by State Police on a charge of larceny of a motor vehicle, involving the theft of a car owned by John Deutch, a local attorney.

Following a hearing before Justice of the Peace George W. Dolan, of Jim Thorpe, the suspect was committed to the Carbon County Prison in lieu of $1,500 bail. The auto was recovered earlier by State Police.

Pine Named Recruitment Chairman For Blood Program

JACK PINE HAS BEEN named recruitment chairman for the Red Cross Blood Donor program in Monroe County and was welcomed at the executive board meeting held last night. The blood donor program came in for a lot of discussion at the meeting.

Charles R. Bensinger, chapter chairman, read an editorial from The Daily Record on the need for local donors to keep the program in Monroe County on a priority-one basis. LeRoy Mikels, county blood donor chairman, reviewed the program during the past year.

Bensinger reported on the National Red Cross convention which he attended in St. Louis during which he was on a disaster panel with representatives from widespread disaster areas. He also reported on the meeting with the camps when Red Cross, Civil Defense and other authorities prepared to set up a program to forestall any future emergencies.

Nurses
Mrs. Jeannette Batory reported on the meeting of 18 nurses, enlisted in both the Red Cross disaster and civil defense nurses program here, and announced that an official directory is being prepared for which all graduate nurses are asked to register with Mrs. Batory or Mrs. Bertha Smith.

Mrs. Ida Kunkle gave the home service report showing 15 cases during the month and 74 requests not counted as cases. Of the 15, 14 were active service cases. On their behalf there were nine telegrams, 21 long distance calls and 136 office interviews. Ten meal tickets were issued to transients.

Mrs. Jack Pine, first aid chairman, reported two classes had completed, with the Barrett class now taking the advanced course. Mrs. Arthur Henning, water safety chairman, reported courses now being given at both pools on all levels up to instructor.

The Volunteer Service report given by Mrs. Martha E. Dreher, vice chairman, showed that 100 volunteers had given 1,067 hours during the month, including 77 volunteers at the blood bank at Tobyhanna Signal Depot, who gave 571 hours.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

I don't know whether they were the best artists—the ones who brought their canvases, their raincoats and their camp stools to the Courthouse Square for the art show, despite damp grounds, threatening skies, and a shiver in the air—but they sure were the best sports.

The spectators seemed to agree, and a right cozy time was had by all. Just the same, I wish them bright skies and a capacity crowd for today.

There are times when I get sort of fed-up with my own Pollyanna stuff—of looking on the bright side, and finding excuses, and feeling sorry for those who have worse things to worry about, don't you?

Maybe we'd be better off yielding to the mood of dark despair, once in a while; being so sorry for ourselves that we wouldn't even admit that anybody else had troubles; turning our face to the wall and refusing to see anything but blackness ahead.

Of course, we'd soon be as welcome as a leper at the feast and any faint pity our friends may have been harboring would turn to contempt, but even so, maybe it would be a good thing.

I can still remember passing my Girl Scout swimming badge work—especially the time element. Thirty minutes, I think it was, that we had to stay afloat. And what an eternity each minute seemed. You got a crick in your neck holding your head out of the water that no amount of floating, or side-stroke, or jelly-fishing would help.

Finally, when it seemed that I couldn't endure it any longer, I deliberately sank under as far as I could go. And when, without any volition of my own I came floating back up to the surface, the tension had eased and when the instructor called "time" I scarcely wanted to come out of the water so effortlessly it seemed, suspended there between earth and sky.

You can't stay in the depth of despair any more than in the depth of a pool—not unless you take a rock down with you to hold you down. In spite of yourself there will be a little lift, an imperceptible lightening, an unexpected and unlooked-for buoyancy, and the first thing you're floating again with the sunlight splintering bright on the waves.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Wonder if I mentioned how thrilled all of us were when Vassar Bags, made in our own hometown, were displayed amid glowing words of praise at the recent accessories show in New York?

"These are Vassar Bag contributions to the fall fashion scene," the commentator remarked, holding two of the glamorous new handbags in the air. And Bea Gorgy, head of our handbag department, nudged me from the left, murmuring, "Vassar—made in Stroudsburg." Both bags were stunning, but I remember one particularly—it was an unusual shade of green, fashioned in such a way it would hold dozens of feminine essentials, and coordinate perfectly with the new fall silhouette.

Vassar bags are among the best sellers in our handbag department... and we are proud that they are made right here in the heart of the Poconos by people we know and respect.

It is my dream that someday I can go to some such company and have them make a very special handbag just for me. It would be long and slim... but it would contain everything I'd need for a weekend in New York, or a month of being shipwrecked on a desert island. There would be special compartments for my compact, rouge, lipstick, and mascara... another just right for a Tote Brush (the tiny case sold in our cosmetics department, that contains a folding toothbrush and tube of paste)... it would have a comb, an eyebrow pencil, a nail file, a key chain, tiny tweezers, and a miniature sewing kit with needle and thread. And all of these things wouldn't take up too much room at all. Of course, they might not leave much space for money. But what in the world difference could that possibly make?

When I typed the above paragraph, I inadvertently coined a word. I wrote "eyebrow" pencil which is quite all right if that happens to be the shade you use... And since we're thinking of eye makeup, I might ask if you've bought eye shadow lately? I haven't, because the cake I purchased when I first came here to work is still around. What's more, since it's Helena Rubinstein's, it's as creamy as the day Pearl Walters sold it to me. However, I did notice that the new mascaras come in lipstick tubes, and are as easy to apply as eyebrow pencil. Which again reminds me that the Rubinstein eyebrow pencils come encased in gold, like pretty purple pencils, and have a removable top which serves as a pencil sharpener. They're a few cents more expensive than some other types we carry, but this feature alone makes them worth the difference... Edna Brockman, of our Wyckoff Travel Bureau, tells us that business is booming more enthusiastically than ever. One of her latest achievements was making travel arrangements for the Peter Larsen family, of East Stroudsburg. Mr. Larsen, wife and son Gary, are spending two months in his native Denmark.

Pro Newcomer Leads Field In Canadian

POINTE CLAIRE, Que., July 6 (AP)—Gay Brewer of Cincinnati, a newcomer to the pro circuit, and Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., shot into the halfway lead of the Canadian Open Golf Championship today with totals of 135.

Young Brewer fashioned a seven-under-par 65 over the Bear record set yesterday by Bo Winconsfield course, equalling the finger, while Mayer added a 68 to his previous 67. Brewer had an opening 70.

Stroke Back

One stroke back of the leaders at 136 came amateur Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla., with 69-67, and slender Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, one of the leading money winners, with 67-69.

Doug Ford, U. S. PGA champion from Mahopac, N. Y., shot a 67 to go with a previous 71 for 138, which placed him in a tie with Mary Furgol of Lemont, Ill., who had rounds of 68-70.

Four players were tied at 139.

Line Material Places Five On 15-Player BR Stars Team

FIVE PLAYERS FROM Line Material topped a 15-man all-star team named by the Stroudsburg-Barrett Babe Ruth League last night.

Ronson, the circuit's first round victors, placed four players on the squad, while two each were selected from Engine Works, International Boiler Works and Worthington Mower.

Al Schock, manager of Ronson's, was named manager of the nine which will take on either Bangor's BR stars or Hazleton next week. John Kullen was appointed as an assistant to Schock.

No Age Barrier

League ruling permits an all-star team to consist of 15 players from the Babe Ruth League, regardless of the age grouping regulation set up during the regular season. The maximum age limit is 15 years old. The selection of the squad was made when managers of the five teams in the circuit submitted a list of eligible players to Schock who named his 15 selections.

Selected

The quintet picked from Line Material were Horace Cole, Thomas Gross, Charles Lupin, John and William Schoonover.

Ronson players named were Paul Frailey, Robert Herman, Ronald Shick and Larry Starnier. Selected from International Boiler Works were Dale Metzgar and Paul Plattenburg. Engine Works boys picked were John Carlson and Robert Pugh.

Named from Worthington Mower were Robert Stine and Richard Everett. Barrett, the loop's sixth entry, failed to place a man on the team.

Drill Next Week

Local Babe Ruth Commissioner Doug Schoonover announced that the all-stars will practice every night next week at Gordon Giffels Field, starting at 6 p. m.

He also noted that all league games have been postponed until after the all-star classic.

Phils Recall Pillette And Option Owens

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies today recalled right-hander Duane Pillette from Miami in the International League and optioned right-hander Jim Owens to the same club.

Pillette worked in nine innings without decision for the Phillies this year before going to Miami.

6-1 Record

Owens, the International League Rookie of the Year in 1954 at Syracuse, has a 1956 record of 6-1 with the Phils, starting in five of the ten games he worked. He gave up 36 hits in that stint and 26 runs, 24 of them earned.

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—Southpaw Jack Harshman shut out Detroit on seven hits tonight and belted out a three-run homer in pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 14-9 triumph over the Tigers.

Suggests Probe Of College Sports

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—A Washington lawyer suggested today a Senate or FBI investigation of what he said are "indications" that big gambling syndicates are moving in on college and other amateur athletics.

The program came from Rufus King, who is secretary of the criminal law section of the American Bar Assn. King told a Senate Commerce subcommittee that he spoke for himself and not for the association in making that recommendation.

"I am not prepared to say there is a problem," King said, "but there are indications that there is."

Marciano Is Hospitalized With Injury

BROCKTON, Mass., July 6 (AP)—As any father knows, playing with the kids can be risky. And Rocky Marciano knows it now too.

Rocky was admitted to Brockton Hospital today with a wrenched back, suffered while tossing his daughter Mary Ann in the air. Mary Ann is almost four. Dr. Nathaniel Gould, Marciano's physician, described his patient's trouble as "a hitch in the back." It is not serious, he said, and Marciano may be out of the hospital in a day or two. Or at most a week.

Ironie

Her father fought some of the ring's best in 49 fights and never lost a bout, never went to a hospital.

It took Mary Ann to put him on his back.

Spahn Blanks Cubs Behind HR Barrage

MILWAUKEE, July 6 (AP)—Joe Adcock and Henry Aaron backed up the four-hit shutout pitching of Warren Spahn with home runs tonight as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Chicago Cubs, 5-0.

Silver Bat Given To Phils' Ashburn

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—Richie Ashburn tonight became the owner of a silver bat which goes to all National League batting champions.

The Philadelphia Phillies star center fielder, who won the title last season with a .338 average received the traditional trophy from National League President Warren Giles in a ceremony preceding the Phillies-Brooklyn Dodgers game.

Lew Hoad Hammers Rosewall To Win Wimbledon Net Title

WIMBLEDON, England, July 6 (AP)—Lew Hoad defeated Ken Rosewall, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, for the Wimbledon men's tennis championship today and gained his third of the world's four major 1956 titles. The rather easy victory took him one step nearer to matching Don Budge's sweep of 18 years ago.

It was the first all-Australian championship match since 1922, when Gerald Patterson won the title.

Just Too Good

The big, blond Australian, who plays power tennis the way an old-time fullback runs, by blasting down the opposition, was too good in every department of the game for Rosewall.

From his singles victory, Hoad goes on to Forest Hills for the American Nationals, the final major tournament of the year. If he wins in New York, he will be the first man since Budge to take, in one year, the Australian, French, British and American titles.

Wimbledon is the common name for the British championship and it is this two-week tennis extravaganza which rates with every player as the world championship.

In Doubles Final

Not satisfied with monopolizing the singles final, Hoad and Rosewall went on to reach the final in men's doubles, where they'll meet the Italians Nicole Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola tomorrow. The two 21-year-old Australians, doubles winners in 1953, whipped Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., and Bob Howe of Australia, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3.

These matches went according to form, but the upsets which have marked the 76th Wimbledon championships continued in the women's doubles semifinal.

There the first and second seeded teams were eliminated and the third-seeded combination, Althea Gibson of New York and Angela Buxton of England will meet an unseeded Australian pair, Fay Muller and Daphne Seeney, in the final.

Swimmer, 40, Attempts To Cross Ontario

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont., July 6 (AP)—Marathon swimmer Jim Woods, 40, of Asheville, N. C., dove into Lake Ontario today and became the first this year to attempt to conquer the lake.

He entered the water at 2:07 p. m. (EST), immediately stroking out at 58 to the minute.

Woods dove in from a boat alongside the customs wharf at adjacent Youngstown, N. Y., and his goal was Toronto's Center Island, 32 miles away.

The water was calm, with a slight swell. The air temperature was in the mid-60's. Woods, although a U. S. citizen, was not allowed to touch the American shore in taking off since all his swimming clearances had been from Canadian authorities.

The Daily Record Tour Guide

A weekly feature of places to go and things to see in the beautiful Pocono Mountains area.

WATERFALLS OF ALL SIZES are among the attractions of the Poconos. Some fall but a few feet, others drop hundreds of feet into deep gorges; some are singular, others are in series; some tumble gently, while others roar. Bushkill Falls, Buttermilk, Childs State Park, are among the score of falls in the area.

Pocono Mountain Plateau Has Charm All Its Own

THE POCONO Mountain plateau with its primeval lure has a peculiar charm all its own. In Indian days it was a dense wilderness with only Indian trails running through it, and was a great hunting and fishing ground. Wild game of all kinds was plentiful fish abounded in the lakes and streams, and there was no closed season for the Indians. Parts of the area are still wooded and afford good hunting for bear, deer and other game, while the streams and lakes are kept well stocked with fish from the hatcheries. A large area is set apart as game preserves, and deer are so plentiful that at times they are destructive to crops and are frequently seen on the edges of clearings and even on the highways. The Pocono plateau is on an average 2,000 feet above sea level with surrounding peaks much higher; therefore, the air is pure and bracing and delightfully cool during the hot days of summer. These advantages are what makes the Pocono region one of the greatest health and recreation resorts in the entire country.

Jefferson Wrote Famous Drama

IT WAS in a barn at Paradise that Joseph Jefferson worked out his dramatization of "Rip Van Winkle," which made stage history after the Civil War. Jefferson's adaptation of the Washington Irving story was first poorly received in Washington, and he had to take it around the world to London, where it ran for 175 performances, before he came home in triumph to New York. "Rip Van Winkle" was then an established success for years. The cottage where the Jeffersons lived for many summers still stands at the main intersection in the village, and his summer kitchen is preserved.

Pocono Resorts Easily Reached

MONROE COUNTY, Pennsylvania's picturesque playground, is the most accessible mountain resort in the world. It has an area of 622 square miles, is within the reach of 20,000,000 people in a distance of a few hundred miles, and can be reached by rail, auto, bus, and airline.

AN OUTDOOR art show, featuring the work of professional and amateur artists, is being held in Stroudsburg today at the Court-house Square, along Seventh St., from the Penn-Stroud. The show is sponsored by the Pocono Mountains Art Group.

IT'S SUMMER IN THE POCONOS — Days and nights filled with activity of every kind—social and cultural events... fishing... golf... swimming in lakes, streams, and terraced pools... boating... summer theatre... night life. And in the background there remains cool mountain paths, unmatched scenery, to offer you moments of contemplation and quiet relaxation. (Tour Guide Photo By MacLeod)

The Busy Hub Of The Poconos

PARADISE VALLEY, the area northward from Anasimok through Mountainhome, with its fine streams, its attractive waterfalls, and its verdant growth presents a scene of rare beauty, especially early in July when the rhododendron that lines and covers the mountainside and road comes into bloom.

The area crossed by streams suffered from the high waters of August 1955, but resort keepers and land owners have cleaned and cleared the streams and lands, and have kept the beauty of this unusual area.

This week's tour is through some of the Poconos' most famous regions by some of the country's finest vacation operations.

We start from Stroudsburg to East Stroudsburg, turning left onto Route 196. Continue north beyond the little village of Anasimok. Seven miles north of Stroudsburg, Route 290 cuts off at an angle to the right where Broadheads Creek crosses the highway. About two-thirds of Route 290 is well-paved, the road's winding course along the sparkling creek necessitates moderate speeds, but the route guarantees the traveler 15 miles of country untouched by billboards. Even summer cottages are few.

Route 290 winds into Canadensis, pivotal spot in the Eastern Poconos. A road to the right goes to Skytop, the deadline for many social and sport stories during the winter months. The road to the left, Route 390, is of more immediate interest because it leads to Buck Hill Falls, about two miles to the west.

Buck Hill Falls is reached by a road which turns sharply right off 390 about a mile west of Canadensis. The clearly-marked road almost doubles back along Route 390. Most falls in the Poconos are privately-owned and slight fees are charged for sight seeing. Jenkins Woods, a "remnant of the Primeval Forest" is near the well-known waterfalls.

A nature trail winds through the area in which trees, shrubs, ferns and flowering plants are marked with plates bearing information on the plant. Jenkins Woods is private property, but visitors are welcome. Ask the attendant at the Falls for information and direction to the woods.

Back again on 390, the tour goes through Mountainhome, known in the area as being a seat of summer theatre. Here at Pocono Playhouse, near fine restaurants and night spots, Hollywood stars appear in weekly play productions.

On Route 90 we continue to Cresco, the railroad unloading center for many of the Poconos' visitors, then on to the town of Paradise.

Paradise was once the center of the Poconos. Here was established the first telephone center for the area, here the engineers were stationed for the railroad which made almost an even circle around the village. Here, too, congregated artists, writers and theatrical personages from Philadelphia and New York.

To the right off 90 a clearly marked road leads to Paradise Valley Brook Trout Hatchery. Visitors are welcome to this hatchery, fed by mountain streams, from where comes millions of brook trout that stock streams and are used on the tables of many inns in the area. From 90 continue on to 196 to East Stroudsburg, completing the loop, then back to Stroudsburg.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 6. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

SATURDAY, JULY 7
March 21 to April 20 (Aries).—Tendencies toward procrastination and exaggeration prevail today, but don't yield to them. It can be a happily active or daily restful day—whichever you make it.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus).—Why not talk things over with those who are directly concerned and interested in your affairs? You'll have better results. A good day—but not for over-doing or dallying.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini).—Don't dawdle time away and then have to rush. This causes many later disturbances for you and others. For your talents as God intended, take pleasure in sane doses.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer).—Where there is a will, you know the rest. Today will yield to right intent and efforts. Don't lack faith in your own ability. You CAN do what you earnestly and continuously try.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo).—Possible restrictions, especially in the home. Don't fly off the handle at provocation. It won't help. Look on the bright side: growlers inside progress.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo).—Think twice before you voice that opinion and don't get mixed up in others' differences or discussions if they can be handled without you. Mind diet; don't be anxious.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra).—How you do today will greatly depend upon how you direct, manage and get into the swing of things. The least said, the better, to avoid contention and time-wasting.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio).—You may be tempted to undertake too much now. DON'T. You will be happier, really achieve more by being sensibly moderate.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius).—Stars smile on your personal and general interests. If of course, you must do your best and be at your best to gain all the benefits possible.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn).—Money gains, sound investments, progress in your work or business, as you decide. Your affairs are all favored by friendly stars.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius).—Sudden decisions, drastic changes in plans or action not advised, but otherwise the day is responsive, helpful to important undertakings and ordinary daily routine; also to health and general outlook.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces).—Don't let everyone know your plans, and surely DON'T keep your personal affairs. But don't keep worries to yourself. BORN TODAY are sensitive, versatile and industrious. You can give much pleasure in conversation and plans, but can also engage in discussions too heatedly and fret needlessly on the usually right in your judgments, but once you make a sensible decision, STOP worrying about results, so long as you are doing the right thing. Cheerfulness, healthy, wholesome emotions and religion are your built-in works.
